DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-7, 9-10 and 12-79 are pending in the present application.

Request for Continued Examination

This is in response to request for amendments filed March 29, 2007 Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114.

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 29, 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 54, and 56-67 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claims are directed to a non-statutory subject matter, specifically, the claims are not directed towards the final result that is "useful, tangible and concrete.

See State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373-74 USPQ2d at 1601-02 and Alappat, 33 F.3d at 1544, 31 USPQ2d at 1557). The decisions state to be eligible for patent protection, the claimed invention as a whole must accomplish a practical application. A claim limited to a machine or manufacture, which has a practical application, is statutory. Alappat, 33 F.3d at 1544, 31 USPQ2d at 1557). That is, it must produce a “useful, concrete and tangible result”. The purpose of this requirement is to limit patent protection to inventions that possess a certain level of “real world” value as opposed to subject matter that represents nothing more than an idea or concept, or is simply a starting point for future investigation or research (Brenner v. Manson, 383 U.S. 519, 528-36, 148 USPQ 689, 693-96 (1966); In re Fisher, 421 F.3d 1365, 76 USPQ 2d 1255 (Fed. Cir. 2005); In re Ziegler, 992 F.2d 1197, 1200-03, 26 USPQ 2d 1600, 1603-06(Fed. Cir.1993).

Computer programs (i.e. program product) do not define any structural and functional relationships between the computer program and other claimed elements of a computer which permit the computer’s program functionality to be realized. Yet, a computer readable medium encoded with a computer program is a computer element which defines structural and functional interrelationships between the computer program and the rest of the computer which permit the computer program’s functionality to be realized, and thus is statutory.

Regarding Claim 54, (for example) Applicant may select to amend the claims such that the limitation may read, “A computer program product having a computer readable medium using a federated system on a node in a computing environment comprising: code stored on a computer readable storage medium, which when executed would cause the computer to: define a plurality of data sources on the node...

Examiner recommends Applicant to amend the claims without adding any new matter to the originally filed specification.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-7, 9-10 12-53, 55 and 68-79 are allowed over the prior art of record.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Applicant's particular computer system and associated method for using federated system on a node which includes defining a plurality of data sources on a node associated with a taxonomy, establishing a taxonomy view at the node by taking a snapshot of the taxonomy of the node's data sources, creating mapping between the taxonomy view at the node and the taxonomy of the data sources, accessing the data sources of the taxonomy view and mapping between the taxonomy view of the node and automatically creating the taxonomy of the data source by in combination with the other limitations of the claims, was not disclosed by, would not have been obvious over, nor would have been fairly suggested by the prior art of record.

The dependent claims, being further limiting to the independent claims, definite and enabled by the Specification are also allowed.

The closest prior art fails to anticipate or render Applicant's limitations above obvious.

Comments

The date on which the petition under 37 CFR 1.136(a) and the appropriate extension fee have been filed is the date for purposes of determining the period of extension and the corresponding amount of the fee. In no case may an applicant reply outside the SIX (6) MONTH statutory period or obtain an extension for more than FIVE (5) MONTHS beyond the date for reply set forth in an Office action. A fully responsive reply must be timely filed to avoid abandonment of this application.
